Please remember in your prayers

Linda Lawson is at Beaumont R.O. recovering from surgery to install a port in her head to administer her chemotherapy. Linda is easily confused but is still cheerful and optimistic. Please keep Linda and her family in your prayers.

Nell Chamblee is in St. John Moross and is to have surgery Monday to remove blood from her head which accumulated because of the fall she had two months ago. Nell is in room 231 bed one. Depending on the outcome of the surgery Nell will probably recover at the home of Jeanne and George Price before she returns to her apartment.

Maggie Woloszyk will be discussing the possibilities of stem cell treatments with the doctors at Karmanos this week in order to keep her cancer in remission. She is also to see an orthopedic surgeon who will help her deal with the bone lesions on her spine.

Harrison Waldron, the son of co-missionaries with Jon and Stacy in Honduras is in a coma due to severe brain injuries sustained from an auto accident. His situation is very dire and we are asked to pray that the swelling in his head diminishes so he might wake up.

Rusti Washer's bone marrow biopsy was clear of cancer and she is awaiting the results of her lung biopsy.

Loyal Osterhoudt Jr. and his family have returned to their work in Thailand. We wish them God's blessings and good fortunes in their work there.

News and Events

Our congratulations go out to Molly and Jake Westerman on the news of their pregnancy. Our prayers are for a problem free development and deliver.

Happy Birthday this week to: Betty Green, Jean Marwick, Joe Phillips and Danny Lawson.
